Eureka! is a five-year summer and school-year program for girls interested in STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) fields. In partnership with the College of Science and Engineering at the University of Minnesota.

Eureka! girls benefit from hands-on exposure to new career prospects — as well as positive adult role models in STEM and other non-traditional fields. This program is the perfect opportunity to help young women nurture their interest in STEM fields and thrive academically.

Please provide a recommendation as to why you think the applicant should be a part of Eureka!
